

Take your security to the cloud.

Switch to Menlo Security from Blue Coat or Forcepoint for 3 free months of service.

As organizations continue to move their applications and data to the cloud, their security must follow them there. Having a legacy on-premises approach to security doesn't scale to the needs of today's users. Leveraging detection and remediation technologies isn't effective.

It's time to switch to security that's built in, and for, the cloud with the Menlo Cloud Security Platform powered by an Isolation Core™. The Cloud Security Platform includes Secure Web Gateway (SWG), Cloud Access Security Broker (CASB), Data Loss Prevention (DLP), and email security which are highly scalable and prevent all threats across all vectors. All capabilities are tightly integrated for policy, visibility, and management, providing your organization an easier path to security outlined in the Secure Access Service Edge (SASE) framework.

When you make the shift from your legacy on-premises Blue Coat or Forcepoint, you qualify for three free months of service. If you are interested contact your Menlo sales representative to get further details of this offer.
